Chapter 1

I looked at the sky beyond my cave, I shook my long slender neck. My purple scales keeping me almost invisible in the shadows, my glowing purple eyes bright. I stood up and spread my Aqua purple wings, I let out a roar. I heard the sound of metal clanking, I knew one of the Knights were coming. The sun glinted off his metal armour, I kept hidden in the shadows.
"What do you want?" I said my voice a slight growl.
"The lord of our village wishes to see you," he said, I roared and flew from my cave. I flew towards the village, I got there and landed in the centre. A man in rugged clothes came up to me, he stood there.
"Dragon a few of my people say you have been killing off our live stock," he said his tone angry, I roared.
"You accuse me of eating your animals when you said I can eat whatever I want whenever I want," I roared, the lord stumbled back now shaking.
"I-I am so sorry," he said shaking.
"Because of this you own me twice as much gold and jewels," I said, I roared and flew back towards my cave.
